

Esperti, cittadini e alcuni problemi della “società democratica della conoscenza”

GIULIA BISTAGNINO

Experts, Citizens and some Problems of the “Democratic Society of Knowledge”

Abstract: The article focuses on Fabrizio Rufo’s Deweyan flavoured conception of a “democratic society of knowledge”, according to which experts are to deliberate with ordinary citizens in order to reach correct political decisions, apt to solve societal problems. Here, I highlight some possible difficulties with this proposal, concerning citizens’ epistemic capacities and experts’ interactive abilities.

Keywords: Science, Democracy, Experts, Citizens, Responsibility.

notizie di POLITEIA, XXXV, 135, 2019. ISSN 1128-2401 pp. 169-173