Harm, Commons and Institutions. Reply to Comments

Abstract: This article offers a reply to T. Casadei, O. Giolo and G. Zuccarelli comments about my book on private and family life (2021). It addresses three main issues: first, it discusses the feminist perspective on the harm principle; second, it poses some doubts about the proposal displayed by the theory of commons regarding gender equality; finally, it answers some questions regarding the role of governmental institutions in dealing with private and family issues.
