In the Shoes of Temporary Migrants: Challenges and Ideas

Abstract: The methodological approach of Valeria Ottonelli and Tiziana Torresi to the issue of temporary migration, which is centred on the perspective of migrants, their life plans and agency, has a remarkable importance for the public discussion. While the need to recognise special rights to temporary migrants is convincingly defended by the two authors, this article suggests that doubts arise about the role trade unions should play to grant political inclusion to temporary migrants.

Keywords: Temporary migration, Migrant-centred perspective, Trade unions, Political participation.
