A Return to the Constitution through Civil Constitutions in the Transnational World?

Abstract: This comment to the volume entitled Etsi Constitutio non daretur. Le Costituzioni civili nel mondo transnazionale by Francesca Scamardella is intended to highlight the fundamental role that constitutional principles take on in the construction, from a de jure condendo perspective, of a social and multilevel constitutionalism of effective governance of the multiplicity of reality. The volume offers, in particular, a valuable opportunity to reason, as far as possible, through the lens of the philosophy of law, about the challenges of contemporary and future constitutionalism.

Keywords: Constitution, Constitutionalism, Governance, Contemporary Challenges.
