

Giovanna Bottani

Giovanna Bottani is Senior Researcher at the Italian Centre for Social Responsibility. The I-CSR Foundation is an independent think tank established by the Italian Government with the following promoting founders: the Ministry of Labour and Social Affairs, INAIL (Italian Workers' Compensation Authority), Unioncamere (Italian Union of Chambers of Commerce) and Bocconi University. It promotes the diffusion of social responsibility in the relationships with the different stakeholders and develops basic and applied research on CSR to support Italy's contributions to the national and international scientific communities working on this theme.

Currently she is also working as the CSR Consultant for CIAI (Centro Italiano Aiuti all'Infanzia) Italian NGO that promotes the acknowledgement of all children as human beings and defends their basic rights.

In 2006 she was the Deputy Director of Operations at STMicroelectronics Foundation in Geneva. Before she worked as the CSR Specialist of STMicroelectronics.