

Giacomo Manetti

Giacomo Manetti was born in Pistoia (Italy) in 1975.

He holds a PhD in planning and control and he is assistant professor in business administration (undergraduate level) and in management accounting for not for profit organizations (master level) at the Faculty of Economics of the University of Florence (Italy).

His research focuses on corporate social responsibility, third sector and accounting history.

He has written several articles on these subjects. He is also author of two books in Italian language titled The triple bottom line reporting: from the stakeholder engagement to the assurance services and The German financial accounting theories of the 20th century.